DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings were received on November 15, 2004. These drawings are acceptable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent No. 5,013,688 to Yamazaki et al.

Yamazaki et al. teach a semiconductor die package (Figs. 3 and 4), comprising:

a semiconductor die (Fig. at right);

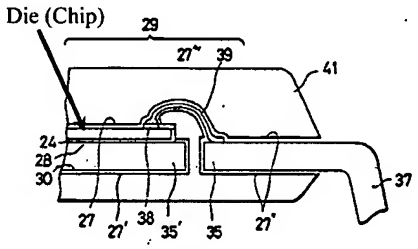
a leadframe (29; Figs. 3(B) & 4); a capsule (shown as (41) at right) enclosing the die and a portion of the leadframe.



Yamazaki et al. further teach that the surface of the leadframe is roughened (Col. 2, lines 31 – 41), which would have resulted in enhanced adhesion. Yamazaki et al. do not teach that the roughened surface is achieved by chemical etching. However, this is considered a product-by-process limitation. "Even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2 and 4 – 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamazaki et al. as applied to claims 1 and 3 above, and further in view of US patent No. 6,583,500 to Abbott et al.

Regarding claims 2 and 4, Yamazaki et al. do not teach a leadframe comprising copper alloy. Abbott et al. teach a leadframe comprising copper alloy (Col. 4, lines 39 – 40). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use a copper alloy for the leadframe since it is desirable to use low resistance materials that are reliable and well suited for use in leadframes. Abbott et al. teach that copper alloys are typically used for leadframes, demonstrating that this is a reliable material.

Regarding claims 5 and 6, neither Yamazaki et al. nor Abbott et al. teach that the chemical etchant comprise sulfuric acid or hydrogen peroxide. As explained above, these are considered product-by-process limitations and have not been given patentable weight with respect to the structure.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 7 is allowed.

7. Claims 21 – 35 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed November 15, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

9. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., certain physical characteristics in the roughened frame) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. The claim merely requires that the frame be roughened as a result of a chemical etch, but does not specify any physical features that distinguish the claimed invention from that of Yamazaki et al. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

10. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
